

JERICHO WALLS

We've built these walls one heartache at a time
Mortared together like stones
Our hearts are protected, from danger unaffected
Behind these walls of Jericho

Then taking a chance, you join me to dance
You smile and curtsy, I bow
As the orchestra starts, we move from our hearts
Once again remembering how

Eyes locked together, could this dance last forever?
Oh! How I long for your kiss
And the smile on your face; another time, another place
Have we danced before just like this?

You're safe in my arms. I'm lost in your charms
The stars and the moon are like spies
The rest have gone home, so we dance on alone
Is it love, the look in our eyes?

Then the sun rises, no more disguises
Laughing, we run through the halls
Two hearts that wonder: Is it a spell that we're under?
Or dare we, to tear down the walls