

Short and (hopefully) sweet..

Hi, all! As promised in my last letter, this will be brief and - just as an aside - is coming to you from the Andes in Quito, Ecuador. But no worries, I will be there with bells on at our upcoming meeting this Saturday! By llama if necessary. 😊

As you have hopefully seen/heard by now via our newsletter, Facebook page or amazing website, this meeting is not one to miss! Come prepared to learn about everything from industry standards to professional collaborations to contests and awards - and don't forget paper and pen for your Q&A session with Ann and Robert Jacobs of the prestigious FAPA organization. While we love to see all your lovely faces in person, don't forget you can attend via Zoom if need be.

We need YOU!!

I'm once again putting out a plea to any of you who have any hidden tech skills. We need an able-bodied member willing to take on the AV portion of our meetings and be responsible for transporting equipment to/from the monthly meetings. Please see me if this is you. I will give you a hug, or if you prefer, a gift card to your favorite drive-thru establishment! 😊

We are also looking for a new webmaster to assume management of our amazing website within the next two months. If that is you, please contact Laura Fuller or me directly to discuss further details.

And that's it! As promised, short and sweet. Have a great week, people, and ahoove all:

KEEP WRITING!!!

As we say in Quito, "Hasta sábadó!" (Until Saturday!)

Warmly,

Christie Zarria, GCWA President
